

Dr. T. Z. Koo Will Discuss "Vital Religion And Student"

Week-end Conference Held By S.C.M. at Edgewater Hotel

Dr. Koo Will Deliver Sermon at Sunday Chapel

A LECTURE will be given by Dr. T. Z. Koo at 11 a.m. on Friday, November 22, in Moyse Hall. Dr. Koo will come here under the auspices of the Student Christian Movement after an extended lecturing tour. The week-end conference scheduled to be held by the Movement is an over-night affair and will be held at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Pointe Claire, on November 23. On Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, Jean Hunter, President of the Student Christian Movement, will open the meeting by introducing Dr. Koo to the students. Dr. Koo will give his first address, entitled "Vital Religion and the Student," and after dinner the subject is to be discussed by small group.

On Sunday, November 24, Dr. Koo will deliver the sermon at the Students' Chapel in Divinity Hall. During the afternoon, he expects to attend the Open House in Strathcona Hall, for which a musical program has been arranged. At this the Doctor will give a short talk on Chinese Music, in which he is very interested. His chief recreation is collecting old Chinese folk-songs, and reducing them to Western notation, as well as playing them with rare skill on bamboo flute.

Graduated in Shanghai
After graduating from St. John's University, Shanghai, Dr. Koo served in the administration department of the Chinese Railways. From 1918 to 1930 he was Senior Secretary for the Student Department in China. Eight years ago, he was sent by a group of Chinese Banking and Commercial Guilds to visit the United States and Canada, with a number of other representatives, to promote a better understanding of Chinese affairs. He has also paid visits to Australia and New Zealand in an official capacity under the auspices of the World's Student Christian Federation, and is now on a similar visit to the United States and Canada.

Redpath To Exhibit Rare Feather Book

Display of Wood Ornithological Treasure Will Last Until Dec. 21

WORK OF ITALIAN
Opus of Milanese Gardener Contains 156 Pictures

The Feather Book, a rare treasure from the Wood Ornithological Library, will be on view in the Gallery of the Redpath Library until Saturday, Dec. 21. It was purchased in London by the McGill University Library with funds provided by Dr. Casey A. Wood, who was also the donor of the ornithological library belonging to the University.

The book is unique. Nothing similar is known to compare with it in age or interest. It has a curious title-page which shows that it was made in 1618 by one Dionisio Minaggio, the Governor of Milan's gardener, but beyond this fact, little is known regarding its history nor how it came from Italy to England.

156 Pictures

There are 156 pictures in the book, each one made with infinite patience and extraordinary skill from bird's feathers. In some the beaks and claws were included. The feathers were pasted on a heavy paper which was then mounted on the pages of a folio volume. 112 of the pictures are birds while the others represent hunters, musicians, and the familiar figures of characters in the Commedia dell'Arte.

No volume like this is to be found in either the British or the South Kensington Museums. The book gives contemporary information regarding costumes and musical instruments; and also contains in an excellent state of preservation the oldest bird-skins in existence. It is an ornithological document of greatest importance, as it raises questions of bird distribution, coloration, and variation.

Wrote Article

Dr. Wood has written an article on "Two hitherto unpublished pictures of the Maurizio Dodo," with material gleaned from the Feather Book for the "Ibis." Henry Mowley has also used it in writing "A Historical review of the habits and anatomy of the woodcock" for "The Canadian Field Naturalist," while Dr. G. R. Lomer, the University Librarian, has written "Feather pictures of the Commedia

Dr. Johnson Talks At Grads' Meeting

Discussion of Season's Activities Features Association's Second Meeting

Dean F. M. G. Johnson, head of the Faculty of Graduate Studies, will be the guest speaker at tonight's meeting of the Graduate Students' Association to be held in the Union Ballroom at 8:15 p.m. In addition several other professors have been invited and will be in attendance.

An informal discussion of this season's activities will follow, and members are asked to prepare suggestions. Bridge and dancing will provide the entertainment at the conclusion of the gathering.

The organization, founded four years ago is independent of the Graduates Society and is the only club for post graduate students. The membership is over one hundred and forty. The executive, of which Dean Johnson is Honorary President, consists of Ronald Leatham, Elma Perrigard, A. J. H. Richardson and L. R. Walker.

Urologist Lectures On Kidney Lesions

Dr. Cabot Addressed Medical Undergraduate Society Last Night

Challenging medical students to surpass the deeds of the past generation, with the aid of the many new medical inventions, Dr. Hugh Cabot addressed the Medical Undergraduate Society last night on the subject "Blood Stream Infections of the Kidney." The Chief Urologist of the Mayo Clinic in Rochester was welcomed by more than three hundred students, who filled the Assembly Hall.

Dr. Cabot first made himself clear on the position of the pathologist as opposed to the physician. The pathologist sees the end result of a series of infections in the dead body, while the physician sees a single entity, a single infection. There are two types of organisms which attack the kidney through the blood stream. The first of these is the Coccus group, and the second is the Bacilli group.

Some organisms must pass through the kidney to cause infection, while others produce lesions even though they do not enter the kidney. Coccus infections are of this latter type. Dr. Cabot is of the opinion that cortical abscesses, if left alone, would be cured without removal from the body. The general opinion, however, is that the best way of curing an abscessed kidney is to remove it.

There are four groups of classic infection of the kidney, Dr. Cabot stated. These are the fulminating type, the common lesion, the sub-acute, and the chronic lesions. The common lesion is the type of kidney infection most often found in patients.

MINISTERSHEAR GRANTFLEMING

THE NEED for more voluntary donors of blood for transfusions was stressed by Dr. Grant Fleming, professor of preventive medicine at McGill, in an address at a United Church Ministerial Association luncheon held in the United Theological College yesterday.

The speaker asked the ministers to secure volunteers through the organizations in their congregations. Rev. Dr. Ross presided.

V. Shelford Gives Somerville Lecture

Subject of Annual Address To Deal With "Nature vs. Technology"

PROFESSOR AT ILLINOIS

Speech Will be Illustrated by Slides in Moyse Hall Friday

"Nature vs. Technology—Saving wild life for science" is the topic for the address to be delivered at this year's annual Somerville lecture. The speaker will be Dr. Victor E. Shelford, Professor of Zoology at the University of Illinois, the lecture to take place in Moyse Hall this Friday at 8:30 p.m.

The Somerville Lectures were originated ninety years ago when a grant of money was given by James Somerville, the purpose of which was to bring to Montreal, each year, some noted lecturer to deliver an address to the public. James Somerville who had previously been at the University of Glasgow, came over to Canada, and took a very active part in the educational life of this city and thus was very interested in starting such a project. The grant was originally given to the Montreal Natural History Society, but on the dissolution of this organization all rights over the control of the money passed to McGill University and the lectures were put under the control of the Extension Committee.

In the recent past, lectures in this series have been given by Dr. G. H. Parker, of Harvard; Dr. A. Willey, formerly of McGill; Dr. E. G. Conklin of Princeton, and by D. R. Goldschmidt from Berlin.

This year the Committee has invited Dr. Victor E. Shelford to speak. Dr. Shelford attended the University of West Virginia, and later the University of Chicago, where he gained his degrees of B.S. and Ph.D. He is well known for the magazine articles which he has written and he now holds the position of Professor of Zoology at the University of Illinois.

The lecture will be an illustrated one and is open to the public, this being one of the main purposes in the founding of this series, and admission is free.

Nominations Called For By Secretary

GEORGE HORNIG, Secretary of the Scarlet Key, has called for nominations for members of the Society. Nominations in Group A must be 3rd year undergraduates, or 2nd year Law students.

In Group B nominations must be 2nd year undergraduates. All nominations must be in the hands of G. H. Fletcher by 5:00 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 22. Each nomination must be signed by ten undergraduates.

THE Arts Undergraduates are holding a luncheon on Thursday at 1 o'clock. The guest speaker for the occasion will be Principal Morgan, who for the past few days has been lecturing in the Eastern Townships.

Tickets may be obtained from Bill Gentleman or from the Society Executives, Graham Gould, Parker Chesney, Bill Carter, and Dave Fraser.

With the complete and final cast now in rehearsal every day, scenery under construction and all departments of production running smoothly, no obstacle is foreseen to prevent "Crime at Blossoms," the Players Club opus, going by the boards on December 12, 13, and 14, at Moyse Hall. The producers state that they have had an increase of enthusiasm on hearing that the play had been produced last season by the Queen's Faculty Players, under the leadership of Dr. Fyfe, with outstanding success. "Crime at Blossoms" is a play that has had outstanding success in the major cities and intellectual centres both here and in England.

Director Filmore Sadler, who was instrumental in the success of "The Devil's Disciple" and "Autumn Crocus" last year, has expressed as much satisfaction as a director allows himself in the performance to date, of the members of the cast. They were only chosen after lengthy deliberation by the members of the executive and are to be the absolutely best material available in the University.

The set, under construction now, follows the design made by Sterling Ferguson and is being put together by a small crew under the direction of Jim Adams. Though the play is set in a single room, the scenery requires considerable ingenuity in its treatment, necessitating the construction of a "garden room" in glass which plays a major part in the development of the plot.

Once again this year the club follows the policy of giving the student audience a reduced ticket price. This plan has proved beneficial to both parties, in the past, and will probably be a permanent feature in Players' Club productions. Tickets go on sale this week, with Arthur G. Campbell as manager.

Biological Society
"Bathing Beach Parasitology" is the topic of a paper to be delivered before the Biological Society this afternoon at five o'clock by Louis Johnson, President of the Society. The meeting will take place in Room 21 on the ground floor of the Biological Building.

The papers presented before the Society are the work of students only, and any student who would like to read papers during the year is requested to communicate with members of the committee, which consists of Louis Johnson, Grant Lathe, and Sara Mendelsohn.

Nominations of candidates for the coming provincial elections closed yesterday at two o'clock. The only acclamation in Montreal was a Liberal Peter Bercovitch, in St. Louis. Forty-one candidates were nominated; 17 for the Government, 13 Union Nationale, 9 Independent, and 2 Labour. Premier Alexandre Taschereau, chief of the Liberal party and a candidate in Montmagny, spoke yesterday in Three Rivers, the ballroom of Maurice Duplessis, leader of the Conservatives. Mr. Taschereau appealed to the working classes not to elect "the man who betrayed his party to ally himself with the former Liberals."

Three Colleges Represented In Intercollegiate Debate

Graduates Obtain Last Opportunity To Receive Cash

THE attention of Graduate students is called to the fact that a special opportunity will be afforded them by the Book Exchange to obtain any money accruing them on Thursday, November 21st, between the hours of 1:00 and 6:00 p.m. A complete list of names of those to whom money is owed, may be found on page 4 of this issue. It will appear again on Thursday.

The Exchange has transacted a little business since closing its doors and a few new names may be found in the accompanying list. The executive requests that Undergraduates consult it and bring it to the attention of any graduate friends the fact that money is owed them. This will positively be the last opportunity to obtain such money this year.

The delay in affording this last chance is to enable this Graduate issue of the Daily to reach the various members of that Society by mail and so inform them of it.

Mining Society To Hold Annual Feast

Dr. Dresser Will Address Meeting in Union Grill

Plans are now completed for the Annual Banquet of the Mining and Metallurgical Society of McGill. It is to be held in the Grill Room of the Union on Saturday, November 23, at 7:00 p.m. Dr. J. Dresser, eminent geologist, will be the special guest of the evening, and will address the meeting on some non-technical subject of general interest. Geology, mining and metallurgy will be well represented both by professors and students, and all interested in these professions are cordially invited; especially are 1st and 2nd year engineering students intending to enter Mining or Metallurgy invited to attend, in order that they form early connections with men in these departments. The tickets are $1.00 apiece, and can be obtained from the executive, J. Royer, H. Skogel and J. Ramsay, or from Harry Grimsdale in the Engineering building.

Catholic Charities Drive Ends Today

$280 Collected in Campaign On Campus to Date

Today is the last day of the Catholic Charities Drive, and as late returns last night showed, twenty dollars have still to be collected in order to reach the objective of three hundred dollars. The committee, however, feels confident that this will be obtained and workers are making a final, concentrated effort to insure success on the campus.

The table in the lobby of the Arts Building as well as the one in the women's common room will remain open for additional contributions. In the event that any students have not yet been canvassed, they are asked to make their donations either here or to one of the workers.

A fashion show was held yesterday at the Knights of Columbus Hall and further funds were obtained in this manner. The Federation of Catholic Charities have so far collected $118.408 of the objective $172.900.

Philosophical Club Debates Censorship

Censorship of Arts Subject of Discussion Group

The subject about which discussion will centre at the next informal meeting of the Philosophical Club will be "Is Censorship of the Arts Ever Justified?" The place of the meeting will be Strathcona Hall; the time, 8:15 p.m., Thursday. Several students will open the argument, after which it will be thrown open to the rest of the gathering. All members of the club are cordially invited to attend, as these meetings are held to give students interested a chance to express their own opinions.

Eastern and Western Debating Teams Clash Tomorrow Night

Merits of Fascist and Communist State to be Discussed

TOMORROW night at 8:30 p.m. in the McGill Union university debating teams representative of eastern and western Canada will clash in a verbal feud over the respective merits of life in two of the most spectacular countries of the world. The University of British Columbia is represented by John Gould, while his team-mate will be Maurice A. Western, from the University of Saskatchewan. McGill undergraduates opposing them are Alfred Pick and Henry Schafhausen.

The subject, "Resolved that this House would rather live in Present-Day Russia than in Present-Day Germany," is one in a series of international topics under discussion throughout Canada, by university debaters under the sponsorship of the National Federation of Canadian University Students.

Controversial Subject
The executive of the Debating Union has pointed out that the subject is very controversial since there exist strong arguments along every line of human thought and activity for living in either country and equally strong arguments for not doing so. Pick, when interviewed, expressed on behalf of his colleague and himself an air of enthusiasm as to the outcome of the debate, at the same time admitting that the opponents both have a reputation for oratorical skill and careful thought that has made them famous in their own colleges.

Tickets for the debate are selling slowly, though it is expected that the majority of the audience will buy their tickets at the door. The price of admission is twenty-five cents, and undergraduates may obtain admittance by applying to Bill Gentleman in the Arts Building, or Bert Yates in the Union Tuckshop.

Westerners Experienced
John Gould from the University of British Columbia has had a particularly brilliant career. He has been a sailor, lumberman, bank clerk, and half-a-dozen others have been known while he was out of college. He has travelled around the world. Maurice A. Western from Saskatchewan has occupied prominent campus positions and has been a school teacher.

The McGill debaters are both well-known here. Henry Schafhausen has a long and distinguished record with the McGill Debating Union, while Alfred Pick has been the recipient of various awards in the debating field, particularly the Talbot-Papineau Cup. The chairman of the meeting will be Mel Doig, President of the McGill Debating Union. It is expected that the western debaters will arrive in town this morning.

Group To Discuss Stevens' Commission

Clarence Gross and George Kleiner to Address Political Economy Club

REPORT ANALYSIS

Theories of Social Planning Practiced by Commission Outlined

The Political Economy Club will hold the second of its series of meetings on Thursday, November 22. The subject under discussion will be "Some Recommendations of the Price Spreads Commission." It will be remembered that the Hon. H. H. Stevens, leader of the newly-founded Reconstruction party, caused an upheaval in Canadian political circles as a result of the investigations of this body. The subject will be discussed by Clarence Gross and George Kleiner.

The former will analyse the findings and recommendations of the report. He will point out the recommendations worthy of application, and those which are not practical under the present economic system. These latter will be analysed fully and their possible application under different conditions will be discussed.

George Kleiner will discuss the general theories of social planning as practised by the commission. Both speakers are 4th year honour economics students. Clarence Gross is Junior Treasurer of the Debating Union and President of the Maccabean Circle.

Nominations

NOW that the annual nominations for undergraduate offices on the Students' Executive Council and Scarlet Key Society are being called for, we feel that a word of advice should be given to those who, in all likelihood, will be doing the nominating. This is an annual topic for editorial discussion and will continue to be, until such time as a majority of students take at least a semblance of interest in student government.

Year after year notices are published in the Daily, day after day, drawing attention to the fact that nominations for certain positions are called for, and must be in the hands of the Secretary of the Students' Society by a certain selected date. And yet perennially the same results are obtained. Invariably, some representative or other is elected by acclamation. And this, in spite of the fact that in every case at least two or three other, equally desirable, candidates could be nominated, and the student body of the faculty concerned given an opportunity to exercise its privilege of electing the man whom it feels has the best qualifications for the position.

Probably the underlying reason for this is the fact that all-too-few students realize the importance of these annual elections. The men elected to Students' Council positions will hold these for a term of one year and, during this time, will have almost unlimited control of student activities. These men will have the power to decide whether or not there should be less student activity. They can curtail the activities of the Players' Club. The Red and White Revue or the Glee Club. They can either do much or do little for the University as a unit. Their word is law. If the council members themselves are inclined to procrastination or indecision, we can realize without much thought what the results would be.

A strong council can push the issue on matters where student interests are concerned. Yet a chain is only as strong as its weakest link and one or two weak links will be much more likely to result from slipshod nominations than otherwise.

It is not essential that a man have held five or six other prominent campus positions to enable him to handle a council post successfully. Far from it. There is always the danger of one man being overworked. In student government it seems to be the tendency to nominate Jones or Smith merely because the same Jones or Smith have held down several other positions. Little attention is paid to the degree of efficiency with which these positions have been held down — the only requirement seems to be success in a former election.

We are drawing attention to these facts — for facts they are — in the hope that this year a little thought will be given to the selection of nominees. If you are approached to sign a nomination sheet do not do so unthinkingly. Question whether or not the man you are thereby supporting is the man you think should hold down the job. Would you vote for him if he were up for election against every other eligible man. If there appears to be someone else whom you would prefer to see elected, start a nomination sheet for the latter. Be honest with yourself. It is only if these things are done that the next Students' Council will be a truly representative one. Elections by acclamation are always unsatisfactory — even in those cases where the man elected is the most desirable for the position. For in these cases there is always a cloud over his election.

Attention

Graduating Years

THE attention of final year medical students is drawn to the fact that their photos for 'Old McGill' '36 will not be taken this week, owing to unavoidable circumstances. Ample notice will be given as to when the various individual members of each faculty will be able to obtain a sitting to have a photograph taken for the annual. These notices will be published each day on page four of the Daily. R.V.C. students are asked to follow

To The Workers

The campaign for new members is now under way, and on your efforts its success depends.

The way has been opened for you, as all non-members in Montreal received the last Graduates' issue of the Daily, and were later sent bills for 1935-36 dues. Each Worker should ask three dollars covering this year's dues, give a receipt, and turn in the money to his Group leader or to the Society direct. Always obtain the correct name, college year and mailing address of the new member.

The Society year begins with October, so this is the psychological time to obtain new members; it is the fairest to them as well.

High pressure selling is not desired. If there are McGill men not yet convinced of the worth of the Society, it is better to let them join later and willingly when they are convinced.

Early results are encouraging. With the membership campaign scarcely begun, already over 80 new members have been enrolled. A number of these have sent in their cheques before being approached, which suggests that McGill men are definitely willing to join the Society and that they are assured that the Society is really coming to life.

Remember that the Society's expenses are covered by last year's membership; thus every new member adds $3.00 to the funds available to help McGill.

The answer to the question "Why join?" is a general one as yet. You Workers know that the Montreal Branch wishes later to learn its members' opinions as to how surplus funds should be used. Possible uses are a Students' Loan Fund, the Employment Bureau, McGill Union improvement, bursaries and scholarships, professors' salaries, broadcasting publicity, and even contributions to the general funds of the University. You can say that, given added income through sufficient new members, the Montreal Branch will put such income to useful work.

The opinion is growing that from you volunteer workers, well-informed and enthusiastic executives are assured in future for the Montreal Branch and for the Parent Society. There has been little chance heretofore for members to show interest in the Society or to learn of the Society's aims and problems. Too often nominees for office, when asked to stand for election, have been told that election meant little work, as there were no particular duties involved. There are duties, and future nominees should have earned nomination by a record of work undertaken for the Society.

This membership campaign is the most important, and the heaviest, part of this year's work. Each worker has, nevertheless, only a small number of non-members to cover. Approach your prospects as soon as possible. Why wait?

It is planned to have a meeting of all the Workers, within a few weeks, to organize on a permanent basis, and to discuss future activities. This meeting promises features which will make it anything but a routine affair. You will be advised of it later.

Any member of the Society who wishes to join the Workers' Organization is asked to phone the Society's office, MA. 2664, before this membership campaign closes. They will be expected, as workers, to approach not more than five non-members, as one of the main principles behind the Workers' Organization is "Many hands, light work, great results." Let us have the results!

Notes On Objectives

The Montreal Branch is anxious to decide upon concrete objectives for its own efforts within the next year or two.

In addition to the Branch's problem, there is the wider question of interest to ALL graduates, as to what use should be made of the Endowment Fund's income. At the Annual Meeting of the Society it was reported that the Trustees of the Fund could not reach an agreement on this. It was therefore decided that the Trustees should confer with the Executive of the Parent Society and present the resulting suggestions to the semi-annual meeting of the Council next spring.

It is to be hoped that the membership at large will hear the suggestions before any decision is made. There are a number of possible uses for the Fund's income, and the selection of a single objective might not be wise.

In the meantime, a general discussion on this question, as well as on Montreal Branch objectives, should aid in the attainment of a popular decision.

CORRESPONDENCE

Suggested Objectives

To Mr. Miles Gordon, Editor,
Graduates' Section, McGill Daily.

Sir,—In spite of the enticing appeal of the Editor of the Graduates' Section inviting opinions, it would seem that there must be a feeling abroad that these opinions are really superficial when there is such an array of talent and of experts who are controlling affairs and destinies, and to whom a mandate has been given for these duties.

On second thought, from the affirmative standpoint, assuming the seriousness of the invitation to Graduates to "speak up," one is also entitled and privileged to take the broader view, and be helpful, in at least proposing creative ideas or such opinions that can be studied and developed for the common good. From the negative point of view, if the hidden and innocent intention is merely to "pigeon-hole" ideas, then the Editor's plan, in my opinion, is a "time-killer" one purely, for what purpose, one may ask, is served in rushing into print, as it were, merely to fill up newspaper space and to show thereby a semblance of activity and aggressiveness. I suggest it is a fair statement that Graduates who tender, more or less, mature opinions or the instructions they will find on the back page of this issue. Cooperation at this stage will do much to lighten the burden of the editors of the annual.

Idea, expect that those in authority will render some sort of satisfaction by deliberating on them, and in coming back to them later on if they could not be put into action now, or in the immediate future, rather than to acknowledge official receipt and then, perhaps, forget all about them.

With these considerations in mind, I, therefore, advance the following suggestions for the Montreal Branch and its collaborators:—

1. Arrange to have the McGill Daily mailed to all members and prospective members of the Montreal Branch at a charge of $1.00, and also run-off monthly issues for June, July, August and September, edited by Branch members.
2. Institute, in cooperation with the Senate of McGill University, an annual public lecture on "Citizenship," having an outstanding personality as guest speaker, e.g., Lord Tweedsmuir.
3. Establish a Committee on Civic and Public Affairs.
4. Arrange Escorted Tours of McGill Buildings, Museums, and Departments for Branch members.
5. Print annually a Blue Book of Branch members with graduation year, degrees, firm, profession, and address for mutual fraternal and economic interest. The cost to be met by selected advertisements. This book ought also to contain facts about McGill, the words of principal college songs, and the Graduates' Society and Branch Constitution and officers list.
6. Appoint a committee to consider the establishment of the nucleus of a McGill College Art and Portrait Gallery, with a Department of Fine Arts.
7. Create a committee and a fund to erect a statue or monument on the Campus to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, or a portrait bust of him in the Redpath Library, and set up plans to do the same honours for other notable McGill Graduates, leaders and benefactors.
8. Set aside part of the Endowment Fund to purchase books for the McGill Library in memory of Professors who merit remembrance; e.g., Late Prof. Paul Lafleur, Prof. Leigh R. Gregor, or Dean Moyse, or Dean Bovey.
9. Sponsor Saturday Night Chamber Music Concerts in Redpath Library, for limited attendance, for graduate Branch members and their families and the McGill staff.
10. Arrange a series of illustrated lectures on "Great Universities of the World," so as to give first hand information of University progress and changes.
11. Sponsor an annual open meeting on "Education" and set aside a block of tickets for local citizens who are interested in the topic.
12. Sponsor the placing of historical marble plaques on (1) the site of the old James McGill residence on Notre Dame Street East; (2) on the site of Burnside House; and (3) on the Bank of Nova Scotia Building, facing Victoria Square, at the intersection of St. James and McGill streets, to commemorate the founder of McGill, and after whom McGill Street is named.

I wish you, Mr. Gordon, as Editor, much success in the conduct of your McGill Graduates' Section, and you may count upon my support in word and deed in the furtherance of your aims and policies.

A. J. LIVINSON, M. A.,
Arts '11.

CORRESPONDENCE

An Old Boys' Football Game?

Dear Mr. Editor,—Congratulations on your last issue of the Graduates' Page. It was certainly an earnest appeal for action by the various members and non-members of the Society. I trust it will not be lacking in results.

To bring something to the attention of all and sundry, I am wondering whether you have heard or have been spoken to regarding a proposed annual Old Boys' football game? If this subject is not too irrelevant to your appeal for concrete ideas, I would like to place it before the graduates to obtain their varied opinions on it.

The plan as I have heard it broached is to have an annual game between the current edition of the big red team and a graduates' team composed of any graduates who still retain some of their past brilliance and condition. The game could be arranged as an opener for each season and, properly "ballyhooed," would probably bring forth a large crowd of spectators eager for the kill, and thus swell the coffers of the Athletic Office. (Major Forbes kindly notes).

The Graduates' team could put in three weeks or so conditioning previous to the game. They would in all probability be able to use the Freshman equipment as at that time the freshmen would not have put in an appearance at Molson Stadium. The game could be followed by a gigantic dinner or smoker or some other appropriate entertainment.

If anyone is interested either for or against the idea, I believe correspondence through the medium of your columns would bring forth many startling ideas.

I might mention that the game would not be "Tag" football as suggested in one of our news sheets as a likely prospect for McGill students.

Sincerely,
"A HAS BEEN"

Junior Poloists Downed By M.S.C. In Hard Battle

Score Ends 6-1 in Gruelling Game — Alf. Mander Gets Four For Montreal Swimming Club — Hushion Lobe Scorer For McGill — Hill Stands Out in M.S.C. Goals — Juniors Show Improvement

MCGILL'S Junior Poloists succumbed before a powerful Montreal Swimming Club squad last night at the Knights of Columbus pool after a gruelling but gallant struggle. The score ended 6-1 in favour of M.S.C., but that did not indicate the trend of the play. The Red Mermen held much of the play, fired most of the shots, but could only slip one by the well-nigh impenetrable citadel of Roy Hill.

McGill lost the toss and opened the game defending the shallow end. Mander took the ball at centre and started an attack on the McGill nets. The Reds were held on the defensive for a few minutes, but Alice Ross started a spirited rush, passing to Savage who shot a wicked one but was foiled by Hill's great stop.

The scrimmage stayed in the deep-end, then suddenly Mander broke away. He had difficulty passing the defence, was forced to the side and from a seemingly impossible angle let go a steaming back-hand shot which whistled into the corner of the net, giving Gilmour no chance to save.

The M. S. C. front line came right back with a clever passing combination between the Fenwick brothers and Mander. Mander's shot just missed. Gilmour barely getting hold of it. The ball was heaved up to centre, Rabinovitch getting the pass and breaking away. Stopped by the defence too roughly, he was given a free penalty shot. The shot zoomed too high, hitting the cross post.

Play went back and forth, both teams missing some fine opportunities. An M.S.C. goal was called back for standing while shooting. The first period ended with McGill still trailing 1-0.

The second period found McGill defending the difficult deep end. Soon after the start Mander bounced another beautiful backhand shot passed Gilmour. A few seconds later, he repeated on the same type of blinding shot.

McGill were roused by this sudden set-back and Savage sent an accurate pass to Hushion who tallied on a fine effort. Back to McGill's end went the ball with Fenwick just missing. Another brilliant M.S.C. combined effort gave Howell a fine opening for the M.S.C. fourth goal. Savage got a fine chance for McGill on a pass from Rabinovitch but Hill stopped nicely.

Frank Fenwick got in for the fifth goal. Mander's fourth of the night came on a whizzing long shot, hardly giving Gilmour a chance. The game finished shortly after with McGill on the short end of a 6-1 score.

The game was hard fought and should have been closer in score. However, Mander's lightning shots and Hill's fine goalkeeping kept McGill on the losing end.

The line-ups:
McGill: Gilmour, goal; Schneiderman, Ross, defence; Royer, half; Hushion, centre; Savage, Rabinovitch, wings.
M.S.C.: Hill, goal; Goodyear, Hamilton, defence; Howell, half; Mander, centre; G Fenwick and F. Fenwick, wings.

Referee, Roy Ashworth; time keeper, Monty Berger; goal scorer, Charles Pines; goal umpires, Nevill and Sherstis.

Hockey Campaign Opens For Juniors Next Monday

Verdun Will Meet a Salt and Pepper Red Team

McGill's Junior Hockey campaign casts off on the Forum ice floor next Monday night when the second edition of the Verdun Maple Leafs are scheduled to meet the junior Bellmen. After making an exit in the first round of the play-offs last winter, many of the team are back in the Forum changing rooms with the eligibility foras still in hand.

A probable first forward starting line — Emory, Kerrigan, and Kennedy — reads like a 1931-32 programme. And then Dave Fraser is back on the defence, along with a newcomer, Alex Hamilton, fresh from Westmount, to ward off attacks on the Red citadel, whose guardian is not yet chosen.

Among the Freshmen who have caught Coach Bell's critical eye are Ferguson, an Ashbury lightweight, and Kerr, from D'Arcy McGee. A dual B.C.S. representation sees Bennett and Cross on the list, and there is Herb Owen from West Hill.

New Intermediate League Established — Starts Saturday

Four Team Hockey Group
Supplants Old Mount
Royal League

MCGILL U. OF M. OPENS

The new Montreal intermediate hockey league swings into action at the Forum Saturday afternoon. This league of teams selected from the remnants of the Mount Royal League has been kicking with the Forum for Saturday afternoon games for several weeks, and finally has come to an agreement. McGill, St. Lambert, Concordia, Villiers, and University of Montreal are the teams entered in the league. The first double header is Saturday, and McGill inaugurates the schedule by playing U. of M.

McGill's team is strong this year. Bobby Bell has an array of stars on hand, several of whom have missed the senior grade by a matter of inches. Crawford, O'Brien, McDuff, Doheny, Pacaud and Corbett are back from last year, and several of the juniors have been moved up. McKinnon, Kenny, MacDonald, and Dan Doheny were in the junior league last year, and of these Doheny showed enough promise to be moved up to senior for the first game of the season.

Among the newcomers are Hubert and Haines, both fast men, who should make a hit with the fans, and lose favour with opposing goal-keepers. The squad claims that this year it is going to belie its title of Bushwackers, which it acquired while playing in the Mount Royal League. It will win its games on skill and science, rather than on brawn and beef. The matter of defensive power however will not be lacking, as Bill Kenny and Bob McDuff, who seem to be the defensive combination are quite capable of handling the opposing forwards. Pacaud will be in the nets again, and given plenty of backchecking and sound defensive work should carry on the duties in the nets with the same coolness and capability which has featured his work in past years.

McGill is confident that it will go far in the league this year. Playing on ice on which it is familiar, and before crowds which will be larger than the immediate attendants of the team, the Bellmen should present a starry array that will help bring intermediate hockey back to the place where it should be, and where it was in the days of the St. Francois Xavier teams.

Heavy Senior Ice Programme This Week — Two Games

Lafontaine Tomorrow Night and Canadiens Friday
Take Turns at Redmen

Two scheduled games are written on the Senior Hockey team's record which thanks to Verdun and Victoria, has been slightly smudged with a defeat and a tie in the two previous starters. Tomorrow the Bellmen will scramble over the Forum boards to face Lafontaine in the second game on the evening's card, following the Vie-Verdun encounter. Friday the Canadiens will be the opposing contingent of the Redmen.

Lafontaine at present grovels at the bottom of the Senior Group ladder, one rung ahead of McGill. They have suffered at the hands of the three league leaders, Verdun, Canadiens and Ottawa.

found themselves at the short end of a 2-0 score. In the encounter against Vics last Wednesday night they had the upper hand in the play most of the time but the passing did not seem to work around the Vics nets ably and amply guarded by the much-discussed Archambault, and a tie, 1-1, was the result.

The Canadiens play Friday in their sixth game of the year. Verdun and Ottawa have taken them over in hard-fought battles.

Coach Bobby Bell will ice the same team that met the Vics last week. Lamb and McKay were slightly cut up in that fray, but in neither case has their style been cramped at practice.

GIRLS' SHORTS

By Megs

INTERCLASS basketball schedule has been posted—the series are to start on Monday, November 25th. As usual there is a total absence of teams representing the Graduate Nurses and the Library School. Arts and M.S.P.E. are getting a little tired of playing against each other—they would welcome competition from other faculties. Even at this late date a beginning in this direction can be made. We hope our appeal isn't being made in vain—where is that school spirit?

A BOUQUET to the Badminton Club—they are really doing things. For Wednesday, a round robin has been arranged to determine a team of four to play the Grads. Plans have been laid to have a match every other Wednesday.

A NOTE of interest — Miss Wain is now in Halifax attending the W.A.A.F. convention, as a representative of the Quebec branch. This convention will determine what's what at the next Olympic Games—more of this anon.

DON'T forget hockey practice on Wednesday—Jean Paul Elle expects big things of you this year.

THE M.W.S.A.A. expects to take out a membership at the Ski Club—girls this means that you will all be able to get together there—Miss Wain will look after the beginners—a coach for the advanced skiers has not been selected as yet.

THE intercollegiate basketball squad is working hard for their coming games. Helen Byers and Peggy Lamb are practising up on the defence, backing up a strong forward line—keep an eye on Kay Morel, she's up and coming.

The tickets entitle holders to have reserved seats in the center sections of the Forum. Box seats and Promenade seats may be purchased by paying the difference in price.

One section will be reserved for Graduates.

Dates for these games, with the exception of the Harvard contest have been set. Yale will play here December 15th; Toronto comes for the first of the local intercollegiate games on February 7, and the tri-color takes the Forum ice February 28. Indiana University Takes A Place Among Progressive Schools

Possibly the greatest forward stride in student government that ever has been taken at Indiana University is the institution of a new merit system for selection of senior class officers and committee members. Campus politics virtually are abolished under the system. Also done away with are twelve useless class offices that never have had any justification for existence. They and the senior committee posts long have been mere political plums, patronage for whatever campus faction might sweep the polls in the elections.

Under the new plan, any student who holds office will be deserving of it. Without a satisfactory scholastic average, without an outstanding record in service to the University through extracurricular activities, the pathway to class offices will be closed. Men and women students no longer will fight over offices. Under the new system, two specified senior officers automatically will go to coeds and two to men, and the committee positions also will be divided.

One of the most interesting features of the new system is that it was evolved by the student body. That fact is significant. It is evidence that the old order was not right. It is proof that a change was needed, and needed badly. Those five student leaders who first conceived the merit idea, the eleven students who worked out the system, and the large group of fraternity, sorority, unorganized and club representatives who approved the final draft, are to be commended. They have placed Indiana University at the top of the list of colleges that have taken progressive steps in student government. They have given Indiana University a system of selection which never before has been used in any school. Practically every college or university that now employs the campus election system is dissatisfied by the corrupting influence such a system bears on the student body. The Daily Student does not think it is in error in predicting that, within several years, the "Indiana system" of student government will be widely used in schools throughout the United States.—Indiana Daily Student.

The funniest campus incident we have heard this fall happened during the registration period at the University of Minnesota (Minneapolis).

Mr. Asher Christensen, a professor, was strolling past two long lines of freshmen. One line consisted of freshmen who planned to be doctors and were registering for pre-medical courses. The other line was filled with those about to enter pre-business courses.

twelve-year-old Boy Scouts any one of whom would gladly tell the O.T.C. the correct way to fly that Union Jack. A word to the wise is sufficient!

Yours,
H. K.

THEATRE REVIEW

His Majesty's

Playing to a difficult audience last night, Denis McFarland's company at His Majesty's just saved themselves from a pretty weak first night by a few good numbers. This week the vehicle is "Oh Boy," a comedy collaboration by Guy Bolton and P. G. Wodehouse. The plot revolves round a secret marriage and the efforts of the bridal pair to convince parents, aunts, policemen et al. that all is well. There is some good humour in the play, but it is not very consistent, a feature which requires lots of pep from the cast in the intervening scenes. Suffering from unprepared lines, both in songs and dialogue, the leading characters gave the audience some anxious moments, made even worse by the lack of back-stage co-operation in lighting and sound effects.

Madeline McMahon and Ruth Edell "stole the show." The former knows how to put her personality across the footlights, and she did it every minute last night. The latter as the inebriated Quaker aunt managed to keep from over-acting and consequently drew the most spontaneous applause of the evening.

Peggy Cornell and Wesley Boynton did well with their rather dull parts, holding the play together with their song numbers. The chorus let their voices run away with them and hardly did justice to the Kern music, music which was certainly worth hearing.

Nat Burns provided some real comedy as the Constable, while Al Downing showed some promising talent. Next week they tackle "The Desert Song," and they should do better with that. "Oh Boy" as done last night is not good enough to ensure this company's success in Montreal.

Loew's Theatre

The group of Major Bowes' Amateur Hour winners performing this week at Loew's fully justify the success this program enjoys over the radio. They are still only beginners, although no longer strictly amateurs, yet they give performances of which many a professional could be proud. The acts are mostly musical, but there are two impersonators and two instrumental imitations. Yvette Doyer, a Montreal girl, very effectively imitates a violin between verses of her singing, and the piccolo imitation of Albert Hall is really remarkable. Special mention must be made of Paul Regan, 19 years old, whose impersonations of radio and screen personalities brought down the house; and of Eileen Martineau, elevator operator at Simpson's, who won the Bowes' Amateur contest held over C.P.C.F. on Saturday. Miss Martineau plays a sketch of her own writing, in which she takes the parts of all the five different characters; a little lisping girl, jolly old story-telling man, an old woman, a young bravo, and another old man with a cracked voice. Her voice imitations and changes from one voice to another are nothing short of marvellous.

Among the musicians, the violin playing of little Lester Smitzer, who is only about fourteen years old, is a revelation. Major Bowes has dubbed him "the boy Paganini," and the name talent which would undoubtedly otherwise be neglected. We wish his proteges a success which is certainly well-deserved.

Edmund Lowe and Karen Morley give nice performances in "Thunder In The Night," the feature picture.

Alice Faye sings nicely in "Music Is Magic" the story of a vaudeville performer who makes good in Hollywood. She is well supported by Ray Walker and Bebe Daniels.

UNDERWEAR

ALL the underwear the student needs... fine wool shirts and shorts. They're warm enough when you're outside... they're light, free fitting and comfortable when you're in class rooms or homes. In brief... all the comfort of summer shirts and shorts... PLUS the warmth of woollen underwear. Try them... we believe you'll like them.

For students who like the feel of wool all the way down... there are short sleeve shirts and ankle length drawers, the latter with an elastic waistband. But personally we think the brief athletic style shirts and shorts will be the big favourites. Sizes for 34 to 44 figures.
